

Flight O-O

“

A playful and experiential business simulation designed to develop a common understanding of innovation agility and cultivate an adaptive change management culture.

OVERVIEW

Rapid technological progress and continuously changing market conditions forces management to take extensive strategic decisions. This comes along with massive changes within the actual organization and an effect on all it's divisions and functions.

Flight O-O is a challenging, exciting experience where groups compete within their role as well as supporting the team members playing their role. The key players involved are the Air Traffic Control, Pilots and Co-Pilots, Passengers and Rescuers – each group responsible for its own specific tasks and success factors to work towards. Flight O-O fosters problem-solving skills and perspective-taking, allowing in individuals to walk in fellow team member's shoes for a while.

OUTLINE

Employees are more likely to support organizational initiatives and objectives if they understand the rationale behind management decisions and realize how they can add to the company's success. Unfortunately, many don't always understand how and why business decisions are made.

This participant focused experience provides lots of movement, lots of conversation and lots of activity. This experience is ideal simulation of interdepartmental challenges and remembering how fragile our client/customer relationships are.

OUTCOMES

- Understand a larger scale of communication
- Utilize conflict communication strategies

- Communicate within a context while giving precise directions
- Think ahead strategies
- Communicate under pressure

PARTICIPANT FEEDBACK

"I really enjoyed how well designed the program was. All the different challenges, puzzles and scenarios were very well thought out. Our entire team has been talking about the event for the past two days and we are planning on using some of the communication models in our team meetings – thanks Corey."
